

Update - August 24, 2006

The website is still under construction and a work in progress, but things are coming along...

We're still working on getting all the appropriate permissions.Â Look forward to additional photos and old newspaper articles in the document archive section.Â We'll also have a bibliography and references section.Â

In the coming month, we should be putting up online some interviews of people recounting their memories of Bronzeville (and other interesting items).

Thanks for your interest!

-- The Bronzeville Project Team